You do not need perfect days. You need repeatable days.

Hi [First Name],

Most people overestimate what they can do in one week and underestimate what they can change in one month.

The goal is not a perfect routine. The goal is a sustainable one.

Try this 5-minute structure:

1. Log one symptom
2. Log one behavior (sleep, stress, hydration, or movement)
3. Complete one guided check-in

That is enough to create trend quality over time.

When routines are small, they survive busy days. When routines survive busy days, your data stays useful. When your data stays useful, your choices get clearer.
